THE AGILIS DIFFERENCE

Category defining watercraft

BESPOKE

Each Agilis jet tender is fully customizable with options for deck, hull, insert colors, and technical equipment. Some models even offer various engine power options.

LUXURY

No expense is spared in the construction of Agilis tenders. Materials, equipment and technical solutions are selected to meet the highest yachting standards.

JET

Utilizing specialized combustion technology and Agilis' lightweight hulls, our tenders benefit from thermodynamic efficiency and reduced mechanical friction to deliver outstanding performance.

THE AGILIS ADVANTAGE

More than a boat.
The mark of luxury.

1. Unparalleled customisation - bespoke without the added cost

32 million possible configurations to create the perfect tender—tailored to a buyer's exact style and needs without long lead times and exhaustive costs.

2. Exclusive German craftsmanship

Family-owned, designed, and crafted in Germany with unmatched precision and quality. Only the finest luxury materials and the best specialists are used.

3. Compact & lightweight Models

Compact, lightweight and spacious without compromising performance. Many models are significantly lighter than comparable alternatives.

4. Distinctive edge design

A sleek, modern edge design that stands out from the traditional rounded look. Agilis embodies exclusivity and contemporary style.

5. Customer-centric innovation

Driven by customer feedback, we lead with features that matter most. Agilis is always at the forefront of performance, comfort, and luxury.

6. Transparent pricing

We believe in openness—our pricing is available online, ensuring buyers have the information needed to make confident decisions quickly.

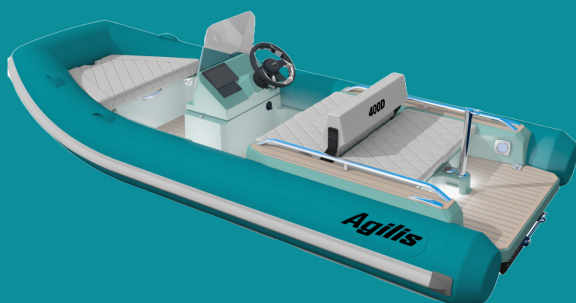

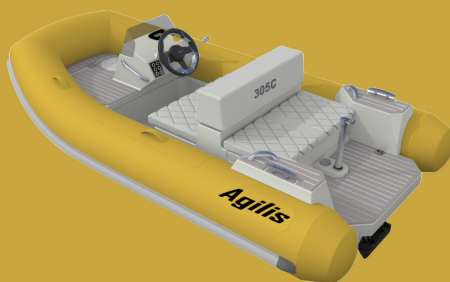

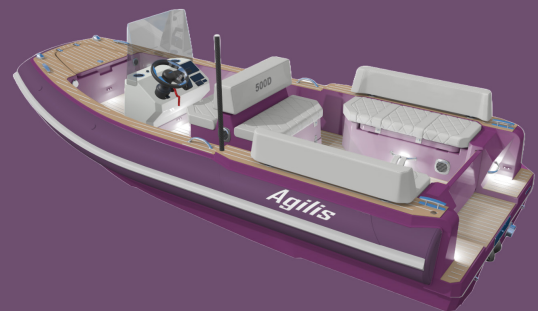

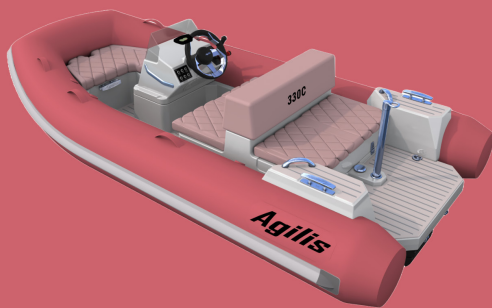

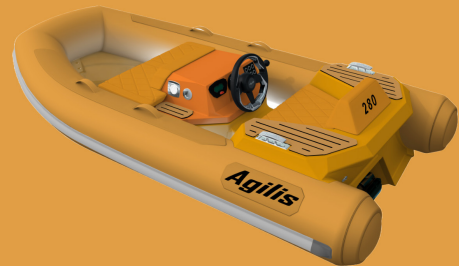

7. Superior handling

Exceptional low-speed precision, instant torque, and 360-degree control make Agilis tenders the most agile and effortless tenders to handle.

COMPANY BACKGROUND

A Legacy of Craftsmanship and Innovation

Agilis Jettenders was born out of a passion for the sea and a vision to redefine the luxury tender experience. Founded by Maxym Starchenko, a lifelong boating enthusiast, Agilis has grown from a dream into a global leader in jet tenders. After spending over a decade in the boating industry, Maxym identified a gap in the market—a lack of truly custom, high-performance tenders that match the needs of even the most discerning yacht owners. Inspired by this opportunity, he set out to create a family business that would offer unrivalled quality, craftsmanship, and the luxury of choice.

The Leader in Jet Tenders Worldwide

Today, Agilis is at the forefront of jet tender innovation, offering both diesel and electric propulsion models that set new benchmarks for performance, efficiency, and customisation. Our range includes the world's smallest diesel jet tender, as well as a state-of-the-art electric model designed for both luxury and sustainability.

Our reputation as a market leader comes from our constant pursuit of excellence. By combining German craftsmanship, full customisation, rapid production, and a family-driven ethos, Agilis stands unmatched in the world of luxury jet tenders. Our clients know they're not just buying a tender—they're investing in a legacy of innovation, quality, and personalised luxury.

At Agilis, we believe that luxury means having the freedom to choose. We craft tenders that reflect a yacht owner's unique taste, enhance every aspect of the yachting experience, and embody our unwavering commitment to quality. It's more than a business; it's our family's legacy.

Full Production Capability and Rapid Customisation

Unlike many manufacturers, Agilis oversees the entire production process from start to finish—right here in Germany. With full in-house production capability, we have complete control over quality and the freedom to innovate. This ensures that every tender bearing the Agilis name meets our rigorous standards of excellence.

Our commitment to customisation is second to none. With over 32 million possible configurations, Agilis can deliver a tender that perfectly matches your vision—whether it's in colour, materials, technical features, or engine power. We deliver customised tenders faster than any competitor.

A family business

Agilis is proudly family-owned. Each tender is a reflection of our dedication to craftsmanship, quality, and service. We go the extra mile for our customers, ensuring each interaction is guided by integrity, care, and a desire to exceed expectations. We take immense pride in crafting the perfect tender for our customers and their loved ones to enjoy.

Unmatched Product Quality

Our German craftsmanship and dedication to quality ensure that you're offering customers the best jet tenders available.

I've loved the power, ease and grace of boats since childhood.

I have spent years working and playing on tenders and even those designed to accompany first-class yachts required compromise.

So in 2015, I started drafting the perfect tender.

And Agilis was born.
